What is a CSA?

A CSA is a unique approach to bringing farms and families together for great food and to support small local farms and sustainable agriculture.

Members of the farm pledge in advance to cover the anticipated costs of the farm operation. In return, they receive shares in the farm's bounty throughout the growing season, as well as satisfaction gained from reconnecting to the land and their food supply. It is important in today's world to know who is growing your food and where it is being grown. Members also share in the risks of farming, including unfavorable weather or pests.

What is a CSA Share?

A CSA full share is designed to feed 1-2 adults who love vegetables or a family of 4 with small children. Vegetarians or larger families often purchase additional shares. Half shares are also available at Cupola Hollow Farm LLC, for those whose family may consist of only two people and the food consumption is smaller.

While quantity depends on what is being harvested on the farm each week, each weekly vegetable share generally includes 5-8 varieties and up to a half bushel of fresh vegetables, with many different delicious varieties and also some unusual vegetables not normally not available in stores. Cupola Hollow Farm LLC will be a unique CSA as we will also have the ability to offer our members the advantage of incorporating other locally produced items such as honey, goat cheese, Cupola Hollow fudge, breads, jams, jelly, relish and pickles into the program. We also intend on offering our members the opportunity to enjoy locally grown fruits when available.

What We Pledge to You:

With a Cupola Hollow Farm LLC share community supported agriculture (CSA) program, you become a "member" of the farm for the season and you receive a weekly portion of the farm's harvest. As the season progresses, the harvest changes, so you will continue to taste and discover new foods throughout the season. Members also may receive an email newsletter with information and news from the farm.

CSA Members also will receive easy-to-follow recipes. We also encourage you to share your favorite recipe with others. Recipes may be shared on our newly formed website and blog. (www.cupolahollowfarm.com) Please visit us on facebook also!

We feel that our CSA will be a unique approach to bringing farms, families and communities together for great locally grown food and to support small local farms and sustainable agriculture.
